I RISE TO REMARK

BY JOHN PHILLIPS

Before Congress recessed, from the regular session, it appointed a special committee, whose chairman is Representative Andresen of Minnesota, to investigate food prices, which were still rising at that time, and to check the charges of food speculation.

I know August Andresen well, having served four years with him on the House Committee on Agriculture. He is thorough, patient, accurate and honest. His committee is ready to file its report. I have not yet seen the full copy, but the following excerpts will give some idea of the committee's findings.

A basic cause for present high living costs, according to the committee, has been the high, and increasing costs of federal government. The report will say that federal spending of the taxpayers money has exceeded the cost of food for all American homes. As one item, since V-J Day, the United States has authorized more than $25 billion for aid in war devastated areas. There is money in the hands of buyers, both individuals and corporations, and so buyer bids against buyer. Wages were increased, without direct relation to the costs or quantities of consumer goods.

Grains, produce, meat, poultry and dairy products. The report will show that when the government bought grain, prices went up, and when the government stopped buying grain, prices went down. To this I add that one job of all California Congressmen was to try to persuade the government to buy a balanced ration, instead of a topheavy grain ration, which forced up the prices. California-grown commodities were needed, and could have replaced scarcer items. The report points out that had the grain bought with the government's $5 billions, for this item alone, been used to feed cattle and hogs, the supply of meat would have increased 28 pounds per person. The committee does not oppose foreign aid, but asks the people to face facts of increasing prices.

One curious factor in this picture is that the government recommended reductions in food quotas, at a time when many of us thought they should have been kept up. This, says the report, together with high prices for grain and feed, caused a decrease in the supply of meat, dairy and poultry products.

To show you what I mean, the egg production goals for 1947 were set at 4,559,000 dozen, but for 1948 they were set at 4,200,000 dozen. Chicken goals were set at 742,047,000 for 1947, and 698,104,000 for 1948. Turkeys were reduced from 34,667,000 in 1947, to 30,507,000 in 1948. The slaughter of cattle for 1947 had a goal of 36,000,000, but for 1948, it was set at 32,000,000. On top of that, the administration asked for a reduction of 8 per cent in wheat for next year and a reduction in breeding cattle of 614,000. These goals affect food supplies and prices. There is a dim reminder of the policy of scarcity.

The report will say that too-frequent government reports, predicting world food shortages, may have encouraged speculation. The whole report should provide interesting and timely reading.

Californians Now Serving Overseas Cannot Vote

Californians now serving their country in occupational territories overseas are deprived of the right to vote.

This startling fact was pointed out today by Qm. Adjt. M. C. Hermann of the California department, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Hermann said he is asking J. Rufus Klowans, V. F. W. national legislative chairman, to have introduced next January legislation to correct the service men and women's disfranchisement.

His action followed complaints to him by several members of the armed forces that going overseas meant losing their ballot privileges, even though they are serving the United States in such places as Germany and Japan.

Hermann quoted Chapter I of the Statutes of 1944, State of California, entitled "Wartime Elections and Voting," in which appears the following:

"The sections of the Elections Code added or amended by this act shall remain in effect until the ninety-first day after final adjournment of the Fifty-sixth regular session of the Legislature or until the first day of January following the cessation of hostilities in all wars in which the United States is now engaged, whichever first occurs."

Hostilities having ceased, the absentee provisions of the statutes are no longer in effect.

A Californian who wants to take a pleasure jaunt to Canada or New York on election day can vote by absentee ballot, Hermann said. A man who flies a C-54 in the Berlin airlift or is on naval patrol in the South Pacific cannot.

"This in effect puts residents of this state who are in the overseas armed forces in the category of second-class citizens," Hermann said.

Cypress Park Committee Sponsors Open Meeting

A handful of public-spirited men and women met in the schoolhouse last Tuesday evening to hear reports on the financial results of the recent community celebration, "White gold day", for the purpose of raising funds for a recreation park for Cypress and the surrounding community, and to discuss future plans for the development of the park.

The chairman of the park committee, Jake Van Dyke, presided, and although notice of the meeting had been published in advance, he voiced his disappointment in the fact that so few people attended a gathering which was planned to hear opinions and comments which would help those members comprising the park board to plan for the welfare of the community in the future through the development of the recreation park.

After hearing a report from the board's secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Russel Flynn, it was voted to accept the figures for the year's business transactions as shown on the books, without the added expense of having them audited by a professional auditor, and the group commended Mrs. Flynn and voiced its appreciation for the splendid manner in which she has conducted the time-consuming, difficult office which she holds on the committee.

The papers of incorporation have been approved and filed with the secretary of state and by-laws adopted to conduct and operate the non-profit corporation known as the Cypress recreational park, Inc. Members of the corporation are elected from the four participating and existing civic organizations, each group being allowed two members, and two members at large who are selected by the board. Two new organizations in Cypress, Post No. 9847 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary group, it is hoped, will apply for admittance to membership so that they my be represented in the corporation.

The board expects to proceed with planning for the park under this arrangement. However, an alternative to the original plan, and a new method adopted in surrounding communities and unincorporated areas which would speed up considerably the attainment of the goal for a park, would be to turn the land over to the county and be eligible for state funds which are available. County engineers would study the area and lay out boundary lines in which taxes could be assessed in support of a park district. After approval by the county board of supervisors, the taxpayers would vote a park district issue bond election, similar to the procedure used in setting up the lighting district. Thus funds from community enterprises such as "White gold day" could be used for development of a park in the way of a clubhouse or used to retire the indebtedness on the amount paid for the park land itself. One of the greatest advantages would be in the fact that skilled county employees would be responsible for the landscaping and year after year maintenance of the park area which in itself is a large undertaking for volunteer workers.

Because the county and state tax money has already been allotted for this year and it would be too late for an election to be of benefit locally the board expects to continue as a corporation for the time being. Published in this issue are the by-laws which have been adopted under the articles of incorporation.

Librarian Speaks At Centralia

Announcement made at the Monday meeting of the Centralia Parent-Teacher association by Mrs. Paul Galloway, membership chair man, showed a membership of 144. Result of the contest for members among the various rooms which ended Friday showed Miss Hunter's room winner of the prize with 178 per cent memberships. A five dollar prize will be awarded to the winners which will be used to purchase something for their room. Decision rests with class members but an aquarium has been suggested.

Miss Dorothy Bowe, Girl Scout executive secretary from Anaheim, was introduced and spoke of the good work which has been done with the Scout and Brownie troops last year and stressed the need for 10 leaders.

The Boy Scout Troops of which Milo Huffman is Scoutmaster, asked that the P-T.A. act as sponsor for the group. It was voted that this be done. It was announced that a room was being prepared for a Scout meeting place.

Miss Nina Simmons, Orange County librarian, was the guest speaker and spoke on the value of a public library to the community. She told her listeners that the library was at he service of the public in many capacities and asked the support of the public in return.

The room count was won by the eighth grade room, who will be allowed to keep the ant colony until the next meeting of the P-T.A. The winner was judged on a percentage basis.

In keeping with the Hallowe'en season were the refreshments of pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee served by Mrs. C. L. Wicker and Mrs. W. Arrowwood, hostess committee.

Six $500 Prizes To Be Awarded

Six $500 prizes will be offered in the numerous classifications in the Orange County Fair Horse Show at Anaheim, October 28 through 31.

Harry Marrell, Diector of the Horse Show Department, has announced complete classifications both for the horse show and breeding horses. In the light horse division for breeding classes, premiums are offered in the following classes for stallions and mares three years and over: American Saddle Horses, Arabians, Morgans, Registered Quarter Horses, Standard Bred, Palominos, Pintos and Thoroughbreds; foals of 1948 and stallions and mares three years and over in Registered Tennessee Walking Horses.

In the Horse Show, prizes are offered for polo, stock, trail, pleasure, parade, hunter, jumper, three-gaited and five-gaited horses. Two classifications are offered for registered Tennessee Walking horses. In the children's division, for children under 16 years of age, three classes are open: stock, horses over 14 hands 2 and trail horses.

TEEN-AGERS MAY ATTEND CANTEEN IN SCHOOL BUS

Although the word is not yet official, parents living in Cypress who have boys and girls eligible to attend the canteen for children in Anaheim on Friday evenings from seven to ten, will be interested to know that there is a strong possibility that the services of the local school bus may be obtained to take the children to and from the party, probably twice a month.

A rigid examination must be passed by school bus drivers, which is followed by periodic training and instruction. In the Cypress area there are few drivers eligible to substitute for the regular school bus driver. School board officials and the regular driver are making every effort to arrange a program whereby the children may have this added pleasure and relaxation.

A newcomer to Los Alamitos is the Reverend Father Albert Duggan, new pastor of St. Isadore's Catholic Church on Reagan avenue. This is his first pastorship, but he was an assistant for eleven years. His last post was in Compton.

Cypress Chamber of Commerce Has To Postpone Business of Meeting

Because of the fact that not enough members attended the regular meeting of the Cypress chamber of commerce in the schoolhouse Monday evening, President Stan Doerr found it necessary to dismiss the few who did appear.

Important matters to be discussed by the local group, and which should have been acted upon, include some necessary changes in the organization's by-laws to conform with the adoption of the new papers of incorporation, and the affirmative decision of the members toward the purchase of a "seal."

In September of last year the chamber voted money in the treasury to pay toward a block of boxes in the Cypress post office. Word has been received from the post master in Buena Park that this sum is again due and it is necessary for the members to take action on this matter once again.

An invitation was extended to the chamber of commerce for this community to enter a float in the armistice day celebration parade in Santa Ana this year, an affair which is being planned on a large scale and will be county-wide in participation.

IT'S BEING SAID - - IN CYPRESS

That among the business firms making plans for drastic changes in the near future is Los Coyotes market, which has been purchasing all kinds of new equipment in contemplation of its move to one of the new group of store buildings at the corner of Miller road and Hansen street.

That we have no reason to mention Jim Vinzor except that he complimented us by suggesting to the waiter that we were too young for a cup of coffee we wished to imbibe!

That we stopped to ask Ed Robinson Tuesday whether or not he had received any word from the E. L. Robinson's who are roaming the country in their new Ford. The surprise was on us this time, for it seems that the most recent postcard was from Ames, Iowa, where they are visiting Ed's brother who owns a 40-acre tract of land where he raises horses, besides pursuing a course in higher learning at Iowa state college. In case you don't get the implication, Ames is the home of our parents, and our "little" brother is a senior this year at said institution of higher learning. We don't own a stable, though. Just a dachshund named Willie and a complete set of printing equipment housed in the basement.

That the Montgomery "boys" who are building the new drive-in theatre east of town paid us a call one day this week. We understand a little more fully what it is all about, now, and look forward to the opening date, which will be announced in the more distant future. The planners depend a great deal for the beauty of their undertaking on the natural contour of the land to make the drive-in theatre attractive.

That if you are enjoying the current "Travelogue" appearing in the columns of this publication, which we know you are, or we wouldn't include it, you might tell W. Cuthbert Miller so, and engage him in a little of that conversation he is so adept at concerning the fascinating southwest, in general and the state of Arizona in particular. We can't seem to match his and Mrs. Miller's enthusiasm in any way for the pleasures of camping, though. He claims he can put up the tent for the night's camp in seven minutes, and we believe him. We believe in hiking, yes, and love the more or less wilds, but our idea of "roughing" it is to return to a snug little cabin with hot and cold running water and a soft bed!

That we haven't been doing what we should be doing so much lately as we like to do, and these things include time spent in chatting with the town's two ministers, the Reverend Eric Jorden and the new minister, the Reverend Arthur King. We like the spirit of cooperation that is being built up between the two men, too, and find it a real inspiration to listen to arguments in support of convictions which we know to be honest and heartfelt. The fact that each individual in a community is entitled to his or her opinion is one of the blessings of democracy which we sometimes fail to appreciate.

That we also talked at some length with Dr. R. P. Desman recently and inspected the building which he has converted into use as an office, largely with the work of his own hands. We found him to be an interesting conversationalist concerning the study of economics, too, in addition to his knowledge of medicine.

That we visited the schoolhouse Wednesday noon at just the psychological moment to be invited to lunch in the cafeteria. If the mothers of children in the Cypress elementary school find a little competition in the matter of noon meals, there is a good reason, for when "Lillie" plans and cooks the lunch, even the teachers call for seconds.

TWO CYPRESS MEN ABOARD NAVAL VESSEL RECEIVING AWARD

Two Cypress men, Harry E. St. Clair, chief machinist's mate, USN, of 8792 Cypress avenue and Arthur F. Fleagle, chief boilerman, USN, of 8842 Cypress avenue, are serving aboard the repair ship USS Hector which has just been awarded the Battle Efficiency Pennant and "E" for her general excellence throughout the fiscal year July 1, 1947 to July 1, 1948.

The award is a competitive one, based on overall battle efficiency. Each department of the ship is graded to determine the vessel's final mark in the competition.

The pennant is a red triangle with a black circle in the center and is therefore termed a "meatball." In addition to the "meatball" each enlisted man having served on board the Hector for at least six months of the competition year is entitled to wear an "E" on the sleeve of his uniform and receives a cash award as well. This is an old peacetime practice in the navy revived with this recent award.

TWIN SISTERS NOW "AT HOME" IN CYPRESS

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Swain, of 5362 Crescent avenue, were allowed to bring their infant twin daughters born on September 24 home from St. Mary's hospital in Long Beach on Thursday. The babies each weighed less than five pounds at birth, and were kept at the hospital until the required weight was reached. The girls are identical twins.

MRS. PUGH ANNOUNCES POSSIBLE P.O. CHANGE

Because the rural route out of Anaheim post office which serves the Cypress area is too heavy for one carrier, it is contemplated asking for city delivery here, according to information received from the acting postmaster of the Cypress post office, Mrs. Ruth Pugh. If this can be affected, it is probable that two city carriers will be needed, to carry mail twice a day.

The limit set by the government for rural carriers is 350 deliveries on a route, and it is roughly estimated that the carrier from Anaheim who delivers the Cypress section leaves mail for at least 700 families.

Steps will be taken to begin the negotiations with the government for city delivery, although it will probably be some time before this can be accomplished.

PERSONALS

Miss Pat Stillman who has been making her home with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Murton Jones, has secured an apartment in Los Angeles and has moved to the city. On Monday a group of her Cypress friends made the trip to Los Angeles for a little housewarming. Attending were Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Hazel Campbell and daughter, Miss Joan, Mrs. Alex Petrie, Mrs. Melvin Coburn and Miss Olga Ronconi and Mrs. Clara Doris of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scally were host couple on Saturday night to their four-table card club. The order of the evening was 500 with Rollin Miles winning high score prize, Mrs. Fern Summerfelt, second, Len White, third and Miss Elizabeth Dickerson, fourth. Mr. and Mrs. Miles substituted for Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Ausburn, who are away, and Mrs. Charlotte Price took the place of Monte Inskeep, who is attending the postmasters convention in New York.

In keeping with the P-T.A. membership drive was the assembly held at the Centralia school last Friday. The program was a mock radio program in the nature of a quiz with Steve Stewart as announcer. The commercials dealt with the P-T.A. membership drive. Taking part were Judy Belle Wicker Barbara Galloway Wilhelmina Van Hunnick, Carl Dillon and Asteria Chaidez. All received prizes.

The two-week old son of the C. J. Sanders, Jr., William Evan, was hospitalized on Wednesday. The baby is suffering the effects of infant diarrhea, and a good deal of concern is being felt for his recovery. A Long Beach specialist is attending him in the Long Beach community hospital with the best of medical treatment.

Mrs. S. E. Turpin, 5591 Vonnie Lane, is entertaining relatives from Missouri this week. Visiting in her home are her mother, Mrs. Lillian Hammond, of Maitland, Missouri; her aunt, Mrs. Emerson Hammond, and a cousin, Mrs. Goslee and sons Kermit and Kendall, all of Skidmore, Missouri. Chief yoeman S. E. Turpin is currently stationed at Pearl Harbor, and his family expects to join him there as soon as living quarters are obtained.

Los Alamitos In First Annual Festival Event

The first fall festival to be attempted by the Business Men's association in Los Alamitos is scheduled for this weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Funds from the affair will be used to further activities and projects undertaken by the group for the benefit of the community.

The children will hold the scene from one to three o'clock on Saturday afternoon with what promises to be a very fine pet parade. Later Val Moore's Hawaiian school of the dance, from Anaheim, will entertain the guests who come to help Los Alamitos celebrate.

The barbecue on Sunday, which will be served from one o'clock until six, will be a very special treat, since it is anticipated that the steaks will be barbecued more or less to order. The auction will follow the barbecue dinner on Sunday evening, and early in the week it was reported that donations already included a calf, a pig and a 100-pound sack of lima beans. The merchants will also contribute toward the auction. The drawing for the free television and for four special prizes will take place during the evening.

The carnival will be complete with clowns for the entertainment and amusement of the children and will include fourteen booths and seven rides all of which will help the business men's group live up to the motto it has selected, "Fun for all."

Deane Dickason At Fullerton Adult Forum

As the spotlight continues to focus on INDIA with the death of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder and first Governor General of the Moslem dominion of Pakistan and with the further news that Indian troops are reported to have entered the Hyderabad territory, tremendous interest centers on the forthcoming lecture and film showing when Deane Dickason is presented under the auspices of the Fullerton Union High School and Junior College Adult Forum Thursday evening at 7:30 P.M. in the high school auditorium on Chapman Avenue.

In his film, which he entitles "INDIA, LAND OF PARADOX," Dickason has included sequences from Karachi. Here the late Jinnah was born and received a part of his education. The son of Jinnah Poonja, a skin merchant, became a highly successful lawyer. Jinnah means "lean men" and the more than six feet, lean, hollow-cheeked young man took Jinnah for his last name. He was known by his many followers as "Quaid-I-Azam," which is an Arabic word meaning "great leader."

Included also in Dickason's superb film are scenes in Hyderabad. This entire state is surrounded by Indian territory. The people are mainly Hindus. The Nizam (ruler) of this big, sounth-central, princely state is a Moslem and has refused to accede his land to the predominately Hindu Dominion of India. The invasion of Hyderabad was said to have occurred after the Nizam's rejection of India's demand that Indian troops be stationed in the city of Sounderabad.

Dickason spent all of 1946 and a part of 1947 in India, completing his 21st trip around the world in 24 years.

Jurgen Siems, 82, Cypress Pioneer, Passes Away

Jurgen Siems, a resident of Orange county for the past 61 years, passed away on Friday, October 8, at the home of his son Ted Siems on Hansen Road, southwest of Buena Park.

Jurgen Siems was born in Germany 82 years ago. He came to the United States in his youth and settled near Anaheim, where he has been a successful citrus rancher since he was 21 years old.

Four sons survive him; Harvey of Pasadena, Charles of Los Angeles, Edward of Berkeley and Ted of Anaheim. His son Edward will be installed Grand Master of the Masonic order of California next week in San Francisco.

There are also three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday at 10 A.M. at the funeral home of Backs, Campbell and Kaulbars in Anaheim. Rev. O. R. Schroder, former pastor of Bethel Baptist church officiated.

Interment was in the family plot in Anaheim cemetery.

More than half a million dollars worth of building permits have been issued in the unicorporated area of Orange County in the recent weeks. In fourth place recently was Los Alamitos with $53,000, including the second most costly residence in rural Orange County this year, a $50,000 residence now under construction for Frank Vessel on Katella avenue.

Teachers Honored At Reception

Over 100 persons were in attendance at a reception for the teachers of the Stanton school district which took place Monday night at the Savanna school. The affair began with a 6:30 o'clock covered dish supper which was served in the school cafeteria. The tables were attractively decorated with red crepe paper runners down the center with sprigs of red berries placed at intervals.

Pete Pruett, a member of the school board, made the introductions of the teachers. Mrs. Twila Reed is the superintendent of the district. Faculty members of the Savanna school introduced were Miss Elizabeth Healy seventh and eighth grades; Miss Eva Emery, fifth and sixth grades; Mrs. Andra Welty, third and fourth grades; Mrs. Frances Pieratt, first and second grades and Mrs. Dena Constantine, kindergarten.

At the Savanna school, which is attended by children of Mexican parentage, Miss Charlotte Cummings teaches the seventh and eighth grades; Mrs. Lois Jewell, fifth and sixth; Miss Martha Miller, third and fourth; Mrs. Alyce Sigala, second; Miss Natalie Cole first and Mrs. Stella Stephens, the pre-first grade group. Miss Eleanor Lawless teaches music at both schools.

As each teacher was introduced, she was presented with a lovely corsage by Mrs. Elton Snavely, P-T.A. president. Following a round of group singing led by Miss Lawless, the remainder of the evening was spent in becoming acquainted with the affair breaking up at an early hour.

The regular P-T.A. meeting will take place at 2:30 o'clock on October 26.

IT DOESN'T MAKE SENSE

In the words of a song hit from a popular musical show, we want to say that the present water situation doesn't make sense to us. We have read the daily papers and the press releases and know that at present in California there is a water shortage and a power shortage. For this reason the state has continued on daylight saving time beyond the date originally planned.

We go to unusual lengths to preserve power and water and what happens in our own homes? While sewers and septic tanks are inadequate and over-loaded and water is scarce, the average home-maker is being forced to use the commodity in what, to us, seems abnormal amounts. While our neighbor stands and waters the lawn and garden with perfectly clear, beautiful water, we are next door doing a washing in a new-type so-called "automatic" washer, which takes gallons of water in its operation, and all runs down the drain. Added is the peculiarity of the water which is so hard for most of us that it is almost useless as a cleansing agency under normal circumstances so we are forced to use a product of the manufacturers referred to as a "detergent." This is not a soap at all, but a bubbly, foamy agent which will scarcely rinse off the smooth surface of china and pottery dishes, much less from the tightly woven materials of linens and garments. To date we have had neither the time nor the patience to "sweat out" the moment in our tub of the automatic indicating that the wash was thoroughly rinsed and ready to be spun-dry for hanging up. Multiply this experience by thousands of neighbors washing operations when the water ran clear from the all over the state of California, not to mention the use of water in industries and businesses.

Will someone kindly point out where we are "missing the boat," "losing a trick" or just plain failing to understand a situation which, to us, "just doesn't make sense?"

INFLUENCE FOR PROGRESS

Some of the best things develop so quietly and so slowly that they attract little notice. A good example of that is found in retail merchandising.

If we could turn back the clock and directly compare the typical store of twenty or thirty years ago with the typical store of the present, we'd be amazed by the difference. All manner of disirable services have come into being. Stocks are far larger and more varied. Store arrangements are infinitely more convenient for the shopper. Standards of display and sanitation have been raised. All in all, shopping has been made far easier and more pleasant.

The main cause of this is a simple one, and is can be expressed in a single word: Competition. We have chains and independents, super-markets and specialty shops, self-help cash stores and stores which specialize in delivery service and charge accounts. All of them are out to get your business if they can, and all of them offer inducements. No storekeeper, from the biggest chain to the smallest independent, can afford to sit back and say that further improvement is imposible. Any morning, the competitor down the street may come up with a new and attractive innovation, and all stores have to be ready to meet it.

Competition, on which the free enterprise system is based, is the greatest influence for progress that exists.

1949 ALL-AMERICA ROSE SELECTIONS

Forty-niner and Tallyho, two new hybrid tea roses, have won the National Rose Jury's coveted title, "All-America Rose Selections for 1949."

Both roses competed with the best new varieties of the nation's leading rose growers during two year trials in 18 official test gardens.

Judged on the qualities of the ideal rose, Forty-niner and Tallyho achieved near perfect scores and demonstrated that they could flourish in any part of the country.

The outstanding feature of Forty-niner is the color of its petals. A rich yellow outside which contrasts and yet harmonizes with a vivid red inside. The yellow color is most evident in the bud, which is a chrome yellow, sometimes overlaid with pink. This changes to straw yellow in the open bloom. The inside surface of the petals is an orient red which turns cherry red as the blossom ages.

The stems of this rose are long and straight, usually very heavy and are quite free of thorns. It has a mild fragrance.

A rich spicy fragrance, unique coloring and graceful form in the open bloom were major reasons for Tallyho's selection as an All-America rose. The plant branches continually, throwing out long straight flower stems with a beautiful bud at the top. Bi-colored, Tallyho has an unusual tint that is entirely new to roses. Its coloring varies according to the weather and planting location. While the outside of the petals flactuates shades of pink including Tyrian rose, China rose and phlox pink.

Both of these roses will be available this fall.

It's Time For Less Talk and More Do!

The National Administration has long been promising to solve problems that vex the nation. Yet our situation is more desperate than ever. The government is in the hands of ineffective men—while the need is for MEN WHO GET THINGS DONE!

The Administration has repeatedly failed to cut wasteful spending and increase its efficiency. It has consistently hampered reconversion, has battled with business, with labor and with the farmer—and has antagonized Congress and the states. It has FAILED to present a united front to the world in these troubled times!

It's time for less talk and more do . . . time to elect an effective leadership with men who get things done!

YEAR'S SAFETY RECORD WINS TROPHY FOR LAGUNA BEACH

Laguna Beach won the big traffic Safety council award at its monthly session in Santa Ana city hall October 7, having the best accident record for the year (Aug. 1, 1947 to Aug. 1, 1948) according to statistics and comparison methods used by the California highway patrol. The award was made by Captain Henry C. Meehan of the highway patrol. The trophy was donated by the Orange County Auto Club.

While some communities of the county passed through the year with no fatalities, their record was judged as less favorable than that of Laguna Beach, which had one fatality, because of their light flow of traffic as compared to the heavy flow of vehicles through Laguna Beach. Laguna Beach had, in addition to one traffic fatality, 47 cases of personal injury and 141 cases of property damage.

La Habra, Brea and Placentia went through the year without traffic fatalities, Buena Park was at the other end of the accident list with 12 fatalities.

Orange and Fullerton, like Laguna Beach, had one fatality, but less traffic. San Clemente and Seal Beach each had two. Santa Ana, Huntington Beach and San Juan Capistrano had four, Costa Mesa five and Anaheim six. The county total was 42.

Enlistment Above Average Locally For September

The army and air force monthly enlistment quota has again been surpassed by southern California, it has been announced.

Southern California reached 106 per cent of its September quota. Although this is a decrease of 15 percent over August, the 1413 enlistments for the southern California area show a consistent above-average in an area with a quota greater than any other area in the eight western states.

Locally Major J. S. Muir, recruiting officer for this area, stated that 69 men had enlisted in the army and air force during Septem- enlistment rate, Major Muir, ex- of the advantages of career-soldier- plained that public understanding ber.

Analyzing the above-average ig, the army high school career plan, and the now routine benefits of good salary and security were a definite aid in this area's national defense effort.

October 23 is already being anticipated by the members of the Y.M.C.A. Boys' Clubs. Hollywood "Y" Day is an annual event when the Y boys see some of their favorite movie actors in person. This year five theaters will accommodate the hundreds of boys who will attend. Red Skelton, Robert Young, and some Western movie stars will greet the boys.

After the movie, an exhibition of gas model airplanes will be given. Box lunches will be provided at the Hollywood High School, and in the afternoon, the football game between U.C.L.A. and Oregon State will round out a full day.

What will it all cost? Only $1.50 for the entire day's event! About 6000 Y members will be there.

BULB CARPETS

THE MOST IMPORTANT function of a bulb carpet is the protection it gives to foliage which must remain uncut until it has become dry and its rich supply of food has been returned to the bulb. Braid fold, twist, or bend the fading leaves of your bulbs (if you must), but never cut them off if you want good flowers the following year. If you continue, year after year, to remove the foliage of bulbs before it has ripened properly, the time will come when you will get no flowers and your bulbs may finally die. Bulb carpets may be planted in two ways; By means of seed broadcast over the surface, or as transplants set out after the bulbs have been planted (for early bloom); or as transplants set out after the tops of the bulbs are well along the way above the ground (for later bloom.)

PLANTING SUGGESTIONS. Here are effective ways of carpeting and interplanting bulbs:

Tulips: Interplant yellow tulips and white Primula malacoides.

After planting the primulas, sow (not too thickly) seeds of Nemophila insignis (baby-blue-eyes). Be sure to thin the nemophila so that it does not smother the primulas.

Carpet white tulips with English daisies and primroses, or plant them behind heuchera (coral bells).

Pink tulips such as the old favorite, Clara Butt, combine beautifully with forget-me-nots or cynoglossum.

Red tulips (the brilliant red Sundew with its exquisite fringed petals is especially good) are stunning with white or cream-colored stocks.

Mignonette is not a showy flower, but it can be a fragrant, unusual carpet for tulips. Another very attractive tulip ground cover is Convolvulus tricolor. It should be grown where spring comes early and should be used with the latest varieties of tulips. Incidentally, if this bushy little morning glory fails to bloom with the tulips, it will make a wonderful bed of color to follow them.

Schizanthus is another fine ground-cover for tulips. However, unless it is planted out at just the right time, when it is neither too small nor too large, and unless drainage is perfect, it should not be expected to make a good showing. It is also important to protect Schizanthus from birds and slugs. Flowers of Schizanthus are so varied in color that it is best to plant them with tulips or other bulbs of a single color.

Daffodils: The most delightful of all carpets for daffodils is a sea of blue flowers. Nemophila or forget-me-nots are best with early and mid-season varieties. Nigella (love-in-a-mist) can be used with later-blooming varieties. Nemophila and love-in-a-mist are best seeded directly in the open ground after the bulbs have been planted. If you want to be sure of bloom from forget-me-nots next spring, you had better set out transplants this month or next. For a low compact carpet, use viola Blue Perfection or blue or purple pansies. If you like yellow-and-white combinations, interplant daffodils and white Primala malacoides or white violas.

Dutch iris: Stately Dutch iris are beautiful planted with Iceland poppies. If you like pastel shades, plant the Coonara Pink variety which comes in shades of apricot, salmon, and rose-pink. Iceland poppy var. Emperor has very large fluted flowers of tangerine orange and makes a striking contrast with Wedgewood Blue Dutch Iris.

Hyacinths: Of all bulbs, stiff-stemmed, formal hyacinths seem best able to stand alone. Even one hyacinth in a pot seems self-sufficient. They may be used in beds without ground-covers or edgings and still make a good showing. One of the best positions for them in the garden is behind a low, clipped hedge, such as boxwood or dwarf euonymous. If a ground-cover is used, the hyacinths should be spaced fairly far apart and should be carpeted with something low like dwarf alyssum. If you wish to grow hyacinths informally, plant them with primroses or violas.

Small bulbs: In general, small bulbs (crocus, muscari, scilla, and snowdrop) are most effective when planted among low perennials such as aubrieta, arabis, iberis, and alyssum. A very good reason for planting these small bulbs among permanent plants is the fact that you are less liable to lose them through digging or stirring the soil about them.

Purple and yellow crocus are particularly lovely planted among white or yellow primroses. White crocus or snowdrops are attractive with aubrieta, which will protect them from splashing raindrops.

Freesias, although they may be grown in warm, dry spots, seem also to enjoy the support of violas and nepeta (catmint).

Women In Orange County Eligible For Prize Money

The Orange County fair, October 28 through 31 at Anaheim, gives the women of Orange county a chance to show just how much they know about economics and win a prize to prove it. Anybody can enter and there rae no entry charges. With 173 separate sections for competition, nearly everyone entering stands a very good chance of winning one or more cash prizes.

Louise Thomas, home demonstrator for the Southern Counties Gas Company in Santa Ana, is cooperating with the fair committee in arranging and managing the home economics exhibits for the Agricultural and Educational tent at this year's county fair. "The prize money is just waiting for Orange county women to take away with them. All it takes is the energy to fill out an entry blank, exhibit and win a prize" stated Miss Thomas.

"This is just the beginning," added Miss Thomas." The Orange County fair is being planned on an even bigger ad better scale for the years to come. As soon as this year's fair is over and the prizes won, Orange county women should start planning for prize winning entries for the 1949 fair."

Entry blanks and premium books may be obtained by writing the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, 136 North Los Angeles St., Anaheim. Miss Thomas stressed that all entries must be in on or before October 22 and all exhibits in place by 5:00 p. m., Thursday, October 28.

Announce Public Drawing of Farms Again For Veterans

Veterans with farm experience who want to take part in the public drawing for 86 homestead-entry farms in the Tule Lake area can get application blanks and information from the Orange County Veterans Service Office, 225 North Broadway, Santa Ana, according to Ben Liebermann, County Service Officer.

Interested veterans are urged to act promptly; although the application filing period does not close until December 20 the forms are complex and must be carefully filled in.

The farm units range from 72 to 135 acres in size. Most of them are fully developed and ready to farm, while others are largely grassland.

Basic general qualifications for eligibility for the drawing, according to information from the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, are: two years of full-time farm experience after the age of 15; evidence of character, industry and physical fitness for farm work; and $2,000 in net assets.

GARDEN HINTS

NURSERY LIST

Although most gardeners wait until fall is here in earnest before they begin to think seriously about big scale planting, wise ones do their planning and planting earlier. If you check with the nurseries this month, you will find that stocks of all but deciduous plants, which must be dug on bare root, are quite complete. The early shopper will get his pick of the better plants that are worth looking for on your next shopping trip to a nursery.

NEW CISTUS: Cistus Doris Hibberton promises to be a happy find for the gardener who welcomed the variety Silver Pink a few years ago, only to find that it lacked vigor and complete hardiness. This new rock-rose is both strong-growing and hardy, and its flowers are even more attractive than those of the older variety, being a slightly deeper pink with a lighter pink center.

No gardener who has grown cistus need be reminded of its great usefulness as a sun loving, drought-resistant shrub that asks for few favors beyond that of good drainage. In a collection of cistus, Doris Hibberton should combine well with the rosy-purple-flowered, maroon-spotted C. Purpureus; or a white-flowered variety such as C. corbariensis (low-growing) or the remarkably beautiful, large-flowered taller-growing C. ladaniferus maculatus, whose snowy-white petals bear a single crimson blotch.

Cistus plants will do well on a rocky slope, with or without summer watering. (It pays to water them about once a month through their first two summers.) They are also good shrubs for large rock gardens. One of the best plants to grow with them, as it requires similar conditions, is the helianthemum (sun-rose), a fine ground-cover plant.

PIERIS FORRESTII: Pieris (andromeda) Forrestii is similar to the well-known lily-of-the-valley shrub (Pieris japonica), except that its leaves come out a beautiful red, then turn bronze, and finally become green as they mature. Long, drooping clusters of pearly white flowers bloom in the spring, at about the same time as early analeas and camellias. In fact, these latter shrubs, as well as rhecodendrons combine perfectly with pieris. Although it is best not to crowd smaller plants around this shrub, one season flowers, such as suberous begonias, cinerarias, or violas, make a delightful carpet to bloom with or follow the bloom of the pieris.

BERRIED SHRUBS. Photinia arbutifolia carysecarpa, called the Catalina yellow Christmas-berry, is different from the red-berried variety Photinia arbutifolia (Toyon) only in its berries, which are first colored deep lemon-yellow, then turn to golden-yellow. If you want something different for holiday decorations and arrangements this new photinia should be on your fall planting list.

Berberis corallina compacta (B. Stenophylla corallina is one of the choicest of the newer barberries. This compact growing ever-green shrub has the characteristic shiny, small holly-like leaves of many of its family, and is extremely hardy. It is an attractive shrub at all times of the year, but especially so in the late spring when it is heavily covered with orange-yellow flowers.

This barberry is useful in any position where a reliable fairly low-growing evergreen shrub is needed, as for example, in the foreground of taller shrubs whose lower branches are sparsely foliaged.

Three Farms Financed By State In County

A total of 230 one-family farms are now being financed for California veterans under the State's Farm and Home Purchase Plan, with 3 of them located in Orange county, according to a report just issued by the State Department of Veterans Affairs.

The State advanced a total of $1,580,096 for the purchase of these farms, in 45 counties. In Orange county this figure comes to $20,409.

Types of farms financed for veterans of both World Wars run the gamut from seven acres of dates in Riverside County to 5000 acres of range land in Modoc county, and the amount of loans ranges from less than $4,000 to the current allowable maximum of $13,500.

The fam purchase operations of the Department of Veterans Affairs are governed by the State Military and Veteran's Code and the policies established by the California Veterans Board, according to Lawrence C. Stevens, State Director of Veterans Affairs, who is in charge of administering the program.

Under these laws and policies the Department, through its Division of Farm and Home Purchases, will advance up to $13,500 on the purchase of a farm for a California veteran. The loan is repaid over a maximum 20-year period at a low rate of interest, currently 3 per cent.

Editor's note:

Because the policy of this newspaper as traditionally accepted is based on the principle that it is morally obligated to accept advertising for both sides of any question likewise its columns are open to comment from any citizen or group of citizens in this community.

The following article has been submitted by the Reverend Eric Jorden pastor of the Nazarene church in Cypress from material received by him for publication locally:

Members of this church and their friends will have an important opportunity to help the furtherance of good government with an urgent call for volunteer workers made this week by the Citizen's Committee sponsoring Proposition 12.

Principally, the work will be concerned with precinct activities reaching each voter possible with the reasons why they should vote NO on Proposition No. 2 and YES on Proposition 12.

To accomplish this there will be needed hundreds of precinct workers for every district. These will form the backbone of the campaign to defeat the political combination that has dominated California politics for so many years.

For those who feel unable to cope with the public at large there are a great many other volunteer jobs available: typing, stuffing, addressing, stamping and mailing campaign matter; and work driving, 'phoning, and speaking. All these, volunteers can do either at home or at campaign headquarters.

In any event, everyone should contribute something to this very important campaign whether it be an hour's work each day or a little money. Only thus can we buy freedom for ourselves and families from a machine that is as great a dictator over our lives as any foreign despot.

The control of liquor must be taken out of the hands of the centralized, biased Board of Equalization with its loose enforcement practices, and returned to cities and counties where it belongs. We can do this only by defeating No. 2 and passing 12.

La Habra Students Seek Part-Time Jobs In Area

Part-time employment for students requiring outside work in order to keep in school is being sought by Los Angeles University at La Habra it was announced today by Edwin C. Groh, dean of of the university.

Steps are now being taken to set a permanent free employment bureau at the school. Under the plan an extensive and thorough canvass of employment opportunities will be made of the surrounding territory within a radius of fifteen miles. Particular attention will be paid to work prospects among the many groves within this territory.

It is known that many grove owners have met with considerable difficulty in the past in securing dependable part-time help. Under the university plan in line with its policy of applied education, students in such work as grove caretaking. Since such students are definitely established here for the school year, employers will have assurance of permanent assistance. An effort will be made to provide similar preliminary training for students seeking work in other fields.

Students at the university, Dean Groh explained, are practically all G. I.'s, For many of them outside work will mean the assurance they can go on with their studies. Contact should be made with the Employment Office, Fullerton 2212.

"It is contemplated that approximately 120 applicants will be selected for this initial program."

Final assignment to this specialty field is dependent ot only on educational background and intelligence, but also on personality adaptibility, attentiveness to duty and successful completion of the courses of instruction annd on-the-job training, Major Muir stated.

Complete information can be obtained at the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service, 202½ West Third Street, Santa Ana.

TRAVELOGUE

Written by W. C. Miller, former publisher of West Orange County publishing company.

Highway 10 leaves the Jefferson valley some seven or eight miles to the south-west of Whithall, Montana, and climbs out over one of Montana's many mountain backbones. The highway follows up a very picturesque little canyon over a pass. In this pass we cross over the continental divide. It so happens that there is a little stream trickling down both sides of the divide. It is only a matter of feet that one spring trickles off eastward to the gulf and the other starts its journey to the Pacific coast It is quite interesting when you stop to think that you can see water starting on such long journeys with the journeys ends so far apart.

Butte is still a great mining city despite the fact that high hills have been leveled down. There seems to be no end of the gold deposits. The city itself is tossed upon a hillside, the dirt and smoke arising from the great mining activities which make the buildings and streets very dirty and drab but once within the stores they compare very favorably with stores in much larger cities. Susan and I have no love for cities when we are on the prowl so we just passed through Butte last July and headed west.

Seven miles out of Butte we headed south on 91. As we climbed to a height we could see well to the west of the top of the highest smokestack in America if not the world that of the Anaconda Smelting company. We traveled south through a ranch country to the little city of Divide. There we turned west again and followed up the Big Hole river. Just above Divide the tremendous power of the river is harnessed to furnish power for much of the surrounding country. For about five miles the Big Hole ran through a very narrow and deep canyon then for the next fifteen or twenty miles it broadens enough to hold beautiful little ranches along its banks and then it broadens or flattens into the great Big Hole Basin.

Miles we followed the Big Hole river as it etched its way along the east rim of the great basin. The smaller streams formed great meadows for many stock ranches. The Big Hole is the fisherman's dream of paradise. It is not uncommon so they say, to catch trout weighing twenty-five pounds. We have to report on hearsay as we only fished in one spot on the river and that for about twenty minutes and the best we could do was one about eight inches long. We followed the Big Horn for miles and miles and finally reached the south rim. The highway turned east and we climbed up to the mountains and finally over the main grade over Sheeps Hill. Why they call that spot a hill I do not know. It looks like a hill for a time. We sent the old grey bus at the hill about fifty miles an hour, in fifty yards we were in second and in ten more we were in low and man, for about two miles we did not know whether the bus would make the grade or not.

Once on top of Sheeps Hill we dropped down the other side quite rapidly and were soon in Grasshopper valley. There was a little river (they called it a creek) following a crazy course down the valley. About twenty miles down the valley we made our camp for the night. We pitched our tents, cooked our evening meal and then went out to fish. In about a half hour we caught 18 trout from eight to twelve inches. We ate the entire catch for breakfast, along with hot biscuits and other food. Then we went out to really catch our limit. We either caught most of the fish the night before or they had become wise. We fished most of the day and caught seven.

A great rock cliff overhung our camp and it must have been the home of many marmots. The little animals, about the size of a very fat house cat, apparently had little fear of us and came about camp but they are mostly vegetarians and therefore did not bother us. There was a great horned owl that made his wierd noises throughout the night. But it was a lovely spot to camp for a couple of nights.

Yours,
Sargum Sprout

PROPOSITIONS

On the ballot November 2. A short summary of each Proposition with recommendations on how to vote by the editor and publisher of the Buena Park News, Paul Kroesen. All of the nineteen questions will be printed before the election.

No. 1 Veterans' Tax Exemptions (ACA 37)

This proposes to clarify the present law by referring to "assessed value" of property owned by veterans which properly may be subject to exemption.

Three times the word "assessed" is added and the third appears to broaden the provisions of the present law.

If this measure were approved, in determining eligibility of a veteran for property tax exemption, property not assessed, such as stocks, bonus, and, in the opinion of some, automobiles, would be exempted from consideration.

Vote YES——because all matters of taxation are based on assesed valuation with which assessors are familiar. The average tax assessor is not qualified to pass on the "value of non-taxable items nor to establish "actual values" as opposed to "assessed values."

No. 2. Local Control and Enforcement of Intoxicating Liquors (Initiative Const. Amend.)

This measure proposes to change the present liquor set-up by giving cities and counties authority to regulate the presence of minors in on-sale licensed premises and to regulate lighting and sanitation in such premises. In addition, changes would be made in apportionment of State liquor license fees and a restriction would be made on the issuance of distilled spirits licenses.

There is some similarity of words between this measure and Proposition No. 12.

Vote NO——This proposition was the last to qualify for consideration at this election and is sponsored by California liquor interests. The placing of Proposition 12 on the ballot, also dealing with the liquor situation caused the proponents of No. 2 to submit it.

No. 3. Railroad Brakemen (Initiative Statute)

This proposal empowers the Public Utilities Commission to prescribe the number of brakemen to be used on railroad trains.

Vote YES——Repeals legislation designed to force full crews on the railroads in 1911. Known as "feather-bedding" the legislation is as out dated as the train it was considering in its day.

No. 4. Aged and Blind Aid (Initiative Const. Amend.)

This measure (McLain) proposes to increase Aged Aid from $60 to $75 and Blind Aid from $75 to $85 per month, to eliminate the Responsible Relative Law which requires children to assist in supporting their parents, and to permit persons aged 63 and 64 to receive public assistance without Federal aid.

Vote YES——A small increase in government support of the needy at a time when inflation makes the present support pitifully inadequate.

No. 5. Compensation of Legislators (ACA 7)

This proposal permits salaries of Legislators to be fixed by the Legislature. Under existing law they now receive $1,200 per year, plus travel and $10 per diem during sessions and while on official business.

The measure follows changes in laws governing the salaries of the Governor and other elective officials approved by the electorate in 1945.

Vote YES——This proposition makes possible increase of the salaries of public servants commensurate with their needs in an inflated economy.

County Exhibit To Feature Huge Birthday Cake

Whose birthday is it?

It's California's centennial, her 100th birthday, as represented by the 100 candles on the giant 20-foot high birthday cake which will be exhibited by Orange County in the center of the Agricultural and Educational Tent at the forthcoming Orange County Fair, October 28 through 31.

"Orange County's birthday cake is appropriate because of the centennial and because the county fair is the beginning of a permanent fair set-up for Orange County, based on the use of funds for California fair purposes," stated H. Clay Kellogg, president of the Orange County Fair board. "We're building a fair on a permanent basis that will be both educational and recreational. The permanent fair grounds will be made into a beautiful park and available for year around use. We're working toward the establishment of real old fashioned annual county fairs to be built on the cooperation and efforts of Orange County residents."

Mr. Kellogg also announced the appointment of Scotty Hudson of Huntington Beach as the director of the Agricultural Tent.

Golden Wedding Anniversary For Hansen Couple

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kitchens Sr., both of whom came to Orange county in their childhood, will mark their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house in their home on Hansen avenue.

Although they didn't know it until they applied for a marriage license, both the civic leader and his wife were born in Tarrent county, Texas, and within a mile of each other, Kitchens in 1877 and Mrs. Kitchens in 1878. She came to Orange county in 1880, her parents buying a ranch in Bolsa, at Bolsa avenue and Verano street. Kitchens came to the same area in 1890, his family settling on a nearby ranch.

Kitchens, a decendent of Lord Kitchener of England, has held a number of civic positions. During the war he was civilian defense co-ordinator for Hansen. He has been clerk of the board of trustees of Savanna Elementary school district for three years, resigning only recently because of failing health. His successor is his son-in-law, Elton Snavely. Kitchens also is secretary-treasurer of Savanna Mutual Water company.

Mrs. Kitchens also comes from a noted family. Her great-grandfather built the first ship at Augusta, Maine and Lowell, Massachusetts, is named for her family. Her father was Greenleaf Lowell, prominent in the early affairs of Orange county.

After their marriage, the couple farmed at Bolsa for two years, then went to Santa Cruz county, where Kitchens worked as a contractor for ten years and then ran a furniture store for five more. He opened a grocery store in Anaheim in 1921, transferring his interest to a grocery store in Hansen in 1926. He operated that store until four years ago when he turned it over to his son, George E. (Joe) Kitchens Jr.

JUNIOR WOMEN'S CLUB ELECT YEAR'S OFFICERS

An election of officers featured the meeting of the Junior Women's club which took place at the home of Mrs. Norville Chapman on Grace street. Mrs. Howard Minnick was co-hostess, with Mrs. Chapman at the share-a-dish luncheon at noon.

Chosen as president to succeed Mrs. George Costa was Mrs. Leslie Brannan; vice president, Mrs. James Booher; secretary, Mrs. Norville Chapman; treasurer, Mrs. Minnick.

Plans were made for a contributed turkey dinner for the November third meeting which will take place at the home of Mrs. James Booher in Fullerton. Names were drawn for Christmas pals.

Two guests were made welcome at the meeting, Miss Polly Elvins of Santa Ana and Mrs. R. Betkey. Others present were Mmes. Bennie Pugh, and daughter, Jillinda, John Lukens, Joe Ferguson, James Booher, George Gamble and daughter, Peggy Ann, Harry Christensen and daughter, Alice Laurine, Glen Miser, George Costa, George Marshall, Carl Beason and children, Jimmy and Susan, Leslie Brannan, Dubert Laird, Lawrence Gaylord and the hostesses.

The Gaylord turkey ranch on Moody is installing a frigidaire for storage of killed stock. "Scotty" MacPherson has the contract for the building.

Community Club Met Tuesday In Job Denni Home

The hospitality of the Job Denni home on Juanita street was extended to members of the Cypress Community club Tuesday afternoon when they met for their regular monthly meeting. Cohostesses with Mrs. Denni were Mrs. Ida Smith and Mrs. H. A. Kelley.

Mrs. Milam Williams, past president, presided at the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Frank Noe. A report of the chairman of the two booths sponsored by the club at the White Gold day celebration was made showing that approximately $185 was turned over to the park treasurer, Mrs. Russell Flynn. It was voted to add whatever merchandise was left over at the needlework booth to what was left over from the bingo game as prizes for a public bingo game to be staged at a later date.

Mrs. Kelley volunteered to be one of the visiting committee at the old men's ward at the Orange county hospital on October 27, the other two being Mrs. Joe Fernandez and Mrs. Murton Jones. A number of members volunteered to bake cookies, for the visit, which was greatly enjoyed by the patients.

Mrs. Murton Jones was chosen as the second member of the club to serve on the Recreation park committee. Mrs. Ralph McFadden of Placentia was introduced as a guest of Mrs. Kelley. Mrs. Sarah Miller was winner of the mystery package.

Cards were played during the remainder of the afternoon with Mrs. Williams winning high score prize in auction bridge. In 500 Mrs. A. R. Strempel was high, Mrs. Otto Switzer, second and Mrs. Len White was consoled.

The serving of a salad course with hot rolls and coffee concluded the meeting.

TREE SURGERY

The practice of surgery applied to trees frequently saves their lives, or alleviates conditions which impair their growth. It definitely has proven to be a valuable contribution to the science of growing and maintaining plants.

While preventive maintenance measures taken at the proper times would forestall many harmful tree conditions, such as weak crotching, it remains for surgical measures to correct them. Proper pruning methods in such cases would normally prevent the weakness occurring; supporting them by braces, chain ties and the like will generally remedy the condition.

Knowledge of the characteristic growth of a tree's branches is quite essential to the tree surgeon. Many kinds inherently have weak crotching tendencies. The vase type American elm is an example, for generally speaking, the nearer a branch approaches a 90-degree angle where it connects to its main trunk, the stronger the crotch will be.

Care for the Aged

Frequently, especially in the cases of aged specimen trees, measures must be taken to reinforce part of the supporting structure. Where the trunk has rotted out inside, for instance, it can be reinforced by a cementing process. Allowances must be made here for expansion and contraction actions, for moisture drainage, and flexibility along with rigidity.

Sometimes insects or diseases run havoc with fine tree specimens. The tree surgeon, by skillful use of his tools, may remove the diseased parts and enhance recovery.

Should the removal of tree branches be of such magnitude as possibly to change materially the structure or form of the tree, it is wise to secure the services of a tree surgeon. He will perform a clean, precise operation, doctor the resultant wound, and probably prolong the life of the plant several years.

We present below a picture of the largest business we have, the United States of America, showing, in some detail just how she stood for last years business. We believe this resume comes at a very opportune time, less than a month before the General Election. Take this with you to the polls on election day. On second thought this will not be necessary if you make sure to go to the polls and cast your ballot.

By-Laws For Park Board Made Public

Club and the Cypress Volunteer Fire Department. Any additional community or civic organizations that are, or may hereafter be organized, within the community of Cypress may be admitted to membership in this corporation upon application by such organization and the consent and approval of the Board of Directors of this corporation. A two-thirds vote of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to admit any new organization to membership in this corporation.

3. The Board of Directors of this corporation shall consist of two individuals from each of the member organizations, to be elected by such member organizations, and each individual so elected shall serve for a period of two years. The first directors elected shall be elected to the Board of Directors by the member organizations, one for a period of one year, the other for a period of two years. Thereafter, one member of the Board shall be chosen by the member organization each year, so that not more than one-half of the membership of the said Board of Directors shall be changed in any one year. The Board of Directors so elected by the member organizations shall select two additional individuals from the community at large, who shall also serve as members of the said Board, for the period of two years, in the same manner as the other Board members.

4. The officers of the said Board of Directors shall consist of a President, Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurer, which said officers shall be elected by a majority of the said Board of Directors.

5. Each member of the Board of Directors shall have one vote in any matter requiring action by the said Board, except that the Secretary-Treasurer shall be a non-voting member. The President of said Board shall be a non-voting member, except in a case of deadlock, in which case the said President of the Board shall cast the deciding ballot. A quorum of not less than a majority of the voting members shall be required for action on all matters coming before the said Board of Directors. A vote of the majority of the members present shall carry all matters placed before the Board of Directors for action.

6. All funds and income of the said corporation shall be derived from donations, community activities and the annual "White Gold Day" and from concessions incident to the operation and maintenance of the park. Nn funds shall be solicited from the members of this corporation by way of dues or assessments. All funds accruing to the corporation shall be deposited in a bank to be selected by the Board of Directors to the credit of the Cypress Recreational Park Inc., and the said funds shall not be withdrawn from said account without the approval of the Board of Directors having been first obtained, and all checks drawn on said account shall be signed by the President and the Secretary-Treasurer.

7. No funds belonging to the corporation shall be expended for any purpose other than purposes directly connected with the administration operation and maintenance of the park. This shall include expenditures for the acquisition of real property building, planting, landscaping, and the conduct of civic activities within the said park.

8. No business or private enterprise shall be permitted to operate in the said park, except such concessions as are reasonably incident to recreational park activities.

9. It shall be the duty of the President of the Board to preside at all sessions of the Board; to call special sessions of the Board when necessary; to appoint any and all committees created by the Board; and to generally supervise the administration of park activities.

10. It shall be the duty of the Vice-President to assist the President in the performance of his duties hereinbefore stated and to officiate for the President in his absence.

11. It shall be the duty of the Secretary-Treasurer to keep correct and accurate minutes of all meetings of the Board of Directors; to keep true and correct accounts of all funds of the corporation; to receive and hold the monies from any source whatsoever paid to the corporation; to attend to all of the correspondence of the corporation, subject to the approval of the President; to notify by notice in writing any persons elected to membership in the said Board of Directors; to keep in his charge the seal, books, records and papers of the corporation, and upon retirement from his office to deliver over to his successor all of the books, papers, records, and books of account in his possession.

12. It shall be the duty of the Board of Directors to attend all meetings called by the President; to manage the affairs of the corporation as the representatives of the members thereof; to adopt such policies and procedures for the operation of the corporation as may be consistent with these By-Laws and the Charter of said corporation; to appoint such committees as it may deem expedient to the accomplishment of the objects and purposes of said corporation; to control the disbursement of the funds of said corporation to employ such persons as are necessary to the administration and operation of the corporation; to give a full and complete report of the activities of the corporation to the members thereof at least once each year; and each member of said Board shall lend his sincere efforts and cooperation to the successful accomplishment of the purposes of the corporation.

13. In the event of the cessation, dissolution or termination of any of the member organizations for any reason whatsoever, the interest of said member organization in this corporation shall terminate and said interest shall vest in those member organizations still existing. In the event of the cessation, dissolution and termination of all of the member organizations constituting the membership of this corporation, or the dissolution of this cooperation, then the park, which shall be the chief asset of this corporation, shall be dedicated to the State of California or the County of Orange as and for a public park. Upon such dissolution, no profit by way of money or property shall inure to the benefit of any member of this cooperation, and any funds that the corporation may have at that time shall be contributed to such charity or public and civic purposes as the members of the Board of Directors shall in their discretion deem proper.

Total receipts from this year's "White gold day" are not as great as many anticipated, but the consensus of those present was that a fine job was done by all of those who were in any way connected with the undertaking and that a definite change in the country's economic status since the first annual "White gold day" is responsible for the total's not being larger, and that next year may see an even bigger change. Expenditures amounted to $853.82, and of this sum, $110.92 was invested in equipment which can be used again next year. Added to the existing bank balance of $1003.21 at the beginning of the project's activities this year is a net profit of approximately $2400, which stands as a monument to community effort and cooperation in the accomplishment of aims toward a worth-while goal.
